SUBMARINES WILL BE MADE SAFE BY HIS INVENTION

Edison Has Solved Great Problem of Under Water Craft

WILL GIVE IT TO ALL NATIONS

Has Invented Batteries That Will Allow Submarines To Stay Under Water 100 Days.

New York, April 12.—The United States government is building at its navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H., a submarine of a type that will excel any boat of the kind in existence in the matter of under sea steaming radius, and which will be equipped with apparatus designed and built by Thomas A. Edison that will enable its crew to live for a period of 100 days at the bottom of the sea if the craft should meet with an accident similar to that which disabled the F-4 in Honolulu Harbor.

This announcement was made last night by Miller Reese Hutchinson, chief engineer to and personal representative of Mr. Edison. It is asserted that the new Edison batteries will give the submarine an undersea cruising range of 150 miles more than a third longer than that of any present submarine, and will eliminate the dangers to the crew of chlorine and sulphuric poisoning. Mr. Edison has been experimenting long on submarine batteries since 1910. One of the European powers now at war began three years ago to attempt to obtain batteries for its submarines from him. Mr. Hutchinson said last night that the inventor had begun work on the submarine batteries for humanitarian reasons, hoping to protect crews from the risk of being killed from poisonous gases. He added that all navies would be allowed to use the batteries for their submarines.

HUERTA IN NEW YORK

Former Provisional President of Mexico Arrives From Spain.

New York, April 13.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico, who for nearly a year has been an exile in Spain, arrived here yesterday on the Spanish steamship Antonio Lopez from Cadiz. Gen. Huerta was passed by United States immigration officials as a transient alien, after he had declared under oath that he would do nothing that would in any way involve the neutrality of the United States.

The former president said he had come to the United States partly for pleasure and partly to attend to some personal business connected with family matters. He swore that he had no intention of going to Mexico or to Cuba. The length of his stay here, he said, was indefinite, but he would return to Spain, possibly sailing from New York early in May.

Gen. Huerta was met at quarantine by representatives of the press and by an array of photographers. While submitting to being photographed in every desired pose, he declined to say anything as to his mission—agreeing to meet newsmen at his hotel in New York Friday morning. Regarding this appointment he said: "I understand that my presence in this country creates in you a desire to know my views about the affairs of Mexico, and I promise to satisfy your wishes to the best of my ability."

"I beg you gentlemen to remember that no interview with me should be considered as authentic unless it carries my personal signature."

To all appearances Gen. Huerta has changed but little since he left Mexico. While he is credited with having a fair command of English, what little talking he did was through an interpreter. Pressed for an interview he said:

"It is a pleasure for me to be again in the United States, as it gives me an opportunity to admire once more the greatness of the American people whom I salute through your press. It is nothing strange that on stepping on United States territory I should consider my first duty to salute this great nation as many of its citizens are my personal friends."

ATTACKS TREASURY HEADS

Riggs Bank in Suit Charles Conspiracy to Wreck Institution

Washington, April 13.—Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department Controller of the Currency John Skelton Williams were made defendants yesterday in proceedings begun in the District of Columbia supreme court by the Riggs national bank of Washington, D. C., which alleges that these officials have combined and conspired to wreck that institution.

Temporary and permanent injunctions to halt the alleged conspiracy, and to prevent the controller from making, what the bank charges are unlawful demands for special reports of various kinds, are sought from the court. The bank's bill of complaint covers 36 typewritten pages and contains 37 specific allegations designed to show that the controller has adopted unusual and legally questionable tactics in dealing with the institution. It recites that evidence of an unusual desire for information concerning the bank was shown by Mr. Williams soon after he assumed the office of controller more than a year ago, and has continued ever since. Prior to that time, in December, 1913, it says, Mr. McAdoo charged officers of the bank with responsibility for publications regarding the official conduct of the defendant Williams, as assistant secretary of the treasury. When this charge was denied by the officials, the bill asserts, Secretary McAdoo cursed Milton E. Ailes, a vice-president of the bank, and said to C. C. Glover, its president, "Mr. Glover, you know what this means to the Riggs National Bank."

"Meaning thereby," the bill adds, "that from that time on the power of the treasury department would be aggressively used for the ruin and destruction of the plaintiff bank in order to satisfy the personal malice and ill-will of said defendants, Williams and McAdoo, and shortly afterward the said defendants, Williams and McAdoo, began a series of persecutions against the plaintiff bank for the purpose of impairing or destroying its said business, thereby prostituting their high public office and violating their oaths in order to vent their personal vindictiveness against the officers of the plaintiff bank."

is an antiseptic healing ointment for the treatment of eczema and all skin diseases it contains no harmful drug yet is a powerful germicide and healing emollient. Much study and many experiments have proven repeatedly that no remedy can compare with Unguentol for the quick relief and positive cure of eczema and skin troubles. Harold W. Cole, Pharmacist.

RUSSIA BORROWS $250,000,000 OF HER ALLIES

France and England Swap Their Money For Russian Wheat

RUSSIA PROSPEROUS IN WAR

People Find That War and Prohibition Are Putting Money Into Their Pocket Every Day

Petrograd, April 12.—Russia is to draw upon Great Britain and France for war funds to the extent of $250,000,000, one-half of this sum to be furnished by each nation, for which they are to receive the equivalent in grain. This is one of the results of the agreement reached recently in Paris by the Finance Ministers of the three Allies to pool all the expenses of the war, as well as the futile attempts to clear the channel of mines on the nights of March 10 and 11, show that the waterway from the Mediterranean to Constantinople is better defended than British and French authorities may have thought.

While the allies have silenced the forts at Kum Kale and Sudd-el-Bahr and two positions of minor importance near there, it would be fallacious for the Allies to assume that this had materially lessened their task. The positions at Kum Kale and Sudd-el-Bahr were reduced easily because it was possible to take them under enfilade fire.

But the allies have gained little by this thus far. Today Turkish infantry holds the ground about the silenced batteries. An attempt by the Allies on March 4 to occupy Kum Kale and Sudd-el-Bahr ended in a rout of the landing party, of whom seventy to eighty were killed, in action and others drowned. The losses of the Turks were: At Sudd-el-Bahr, four killed, fourteen wounded; at Kum Kale, two killed twenty-one wounded. The landing party of the Allies was supported by a heavy fire from the British ships, which ventured so close to the shore that even their machine guns could be brought into play. Two other attempts to land troops met with no greater success.

WANTS FOUR TEAM LEAGUE

Otherwise Brattleboro is Out of the Twin State

At a final meeting of the directors of the Brattleboro baseball association last night it was voted to send President George E. Sherman to the meeting of the Twin-State league in Bellows Falls today instructed to vote to join a four-team league if arrangements can be made to play on the grounds here.

As a result of the spring floods the local grounds are in a bad shape and a part of the grand stand is wrecked. It has been impossible to properly estimate the cost of fixing the grounds, but the owners of the park will be ready in a few days with a definite proposition. If it is finally voted to have a four-team league, there is little doubt that Brattleboro will be in it, but under no circumstances will there be a circuit this year.

MRS. GEORGE T. LANE

Former Summer Resident of Old Bennington Dead

Mrs. George Tibbitts Lane died Sunday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sayre McLeod, at Greenwich, Conn., after an illness of several months. Mrs. Lane's maiden name was Annie Case Mead, being a member of the well known family of that name of Rhode Island, and a close relative of the sculptor, Larkin Mead. Her husband was a prominent manufacturer in Troy, and some time previous to his death in February 1912, they purchased a home at Old Bennington, where they went to reside. Mrs. Lane for many years was a member of St. Paul's church, Troy. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Walter Phelps Warren, Jr., of Troy and Mrs. Sayre McLeod of Greenwich, Conn., formerly of Troy.

BEST OF SEASON

Western Gateway Club Witnesses Good Card at North Adams

"Bay" Wood of Fall River and "Dave" Powers of Malden boxed a 10 round draw before the Western Gateway athletic club in North Adams last night. A small crowd was present, but the best bout of the season was witnessed. The rivals mixed willingly from the first bell. Every round was replete with action. Honors were about even at the finish, and the club plans to rematch the pair for the next smoker.

AVIATOR KILLED

Cecil M. Peoli, First to Fly Over the Andes

Washington, April 13.—Cecil Malcolm Peoli, an aviator, was killed at College Park, Md., yesterday, while making a test flight in an aeroplane of his own invention in which he had planned to make flights from Washington to New York and from New York to St. Louis. The machine fell 300 feet and Peoli's skull was fractured. He died almost instantly. The cause of the accident has not been determined. Peoli was the first man to fly across the Andes mountains in South America. The machine is said to have been the largest in this country. The dead aviator was 22, and went to Washington from Los Angeles, Cal., where his mother lives.

Associated Press Sends Home Report of Operations There

DIFFICULT TO REACH FORTS

Even When Battered to Ruins the Turks Land Forces Have Strong Advantage of Position.

Chanak Kalesi, Dardanelles, March 13. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The first phase of the efforts of the British and French to force the Dardanelles demonstrated that this task is far more difficult than was supposed at first, according to Turkish opinion. The heavy bombardments on March 6 and 7 of the defense works near the town and Kild Bahr, as well as the futile attempts to clear the channel of mines on the nights of March 10 and 11, show that the waterway from the Mediterranean to Constantinople is better defended than British and French authorities may have thought.

While the allies have silenced the forts at Kum Kale and Sudd-el-Bahr and two positions of minor importance near there, it would be fallacious for the Allies to assume that this had materially lessened their task. British Government Agrees on Basis of Settlement

PRIZE COURT CASE FAILS

Owners of Ship and Cargo Will Both Be Reimbursed for Delay.

Washington, April 12.—The state department has been notified by Ambassador Page from London that the contents of the owners of the cargo of the American steamer Wilhelmmina, detained at Falmouth, England have been accepted as a basis for the settlement of the Wilhelmmina case by the British government.

Under the basis of settlement now agreed upon the Wilhelmmina's cargo will be requisitioned by the British government and the owners of both ship and cargo will be reimbursed for the delay occasioned by the action of the British authorities in sending the case before the prize court. The prize court proceedings, which were originally instituted in an effort to prove that the cargo of the Wilhelmmina was destined for the armed forces of Germany, have been virtually abandoned.

The British government found itself unable to prove that the Wilhelmmina's cargo was going to the enemy's forces, but, being unwilling to permit the cargo to go to Germany, has resorted to the old law of Anarchy, which dates back to feudal days, and under which goods within the belligerent territory may be requisitioned for the use of the government and paid for by that government.

INJURIES PROVED FATAL

Joseph Theberge Died at His Home on Mill Street Monday Night

Joseph Theberge, the superintendent of the picking room at the Holden, Leonard company woolen mill who fell from a platform upon a paved floor on the afternoon of March 31, died from his injuries Monday night.

Following the accident the injured man was taken to the Samaritan hospital where an X-ray photograph disclosed the fact that his spine was injured and that there was no chance for his recovery. At his own request he was brought to his home to pass his final hours with his family. His sufferings were intense, but he made no complaint and maintained his courage to the end.

Mr. Theberge was 38 years of age. He was an industrious worker and a man who had the respect and friendship of his employers and his associates.

The family survivors are a wife, one son, three brothers, Thomas and Fred of this village and William in Seattle, Wash., four sisters, Mrs. J. Tessier, of Shaftsbury, Mrs. Walter Irish of North Adams, Mrs. Alice Rendeau of Brooklyn and Mrs. Phoebe Galpeau of New York.

The funeral will be held from the Sacred Heart church Thursday morning.

ENGLAND'S LITTLE SHARE

British Holding Only 31 Miles Out of Total of 1656

Paris, April 11.—Troops of the Allies today occupy battle fronts whose length totals 1,656 miles, according to a compilation made by the Maine. In the western arena, according to these figures, the French occupy 540 miles of trenches, the British 31 miles, and the Belgians 17 miles. In the eastern theatre the Russians face a front of 851 miles, while the Serbians and Montenegrins are fighting along a line which measures 217 miles.

Two Trees.

The two novel orange trees that are the parents of all California's millions of Washington navel trees are still alive. One of the trees is in the garden of Frank Miller's Mission Inn, where it was transplanted by Theodore Roosevelt when he was president. The other is at the head of the famous Magnolia avenue at Riverside. The two trees were sent by the government to L. C. Tibbitts, a Riverside colonist, in 1873. Then followed the development of California's great navel orchards.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Bad Bargain.

"They say she literally bought the count, and now I guess she wishes she'd bought him on the installment plan."

"Why so?"

"Then all she'd have to do would be to stop payments and they would take him away."—Boston Transcript.
